TREMBLEY WAY!

Daredevil walks to top of Wembley arch

ISIS Brits travelling via Canada

BRITONS heading to the Middle East to join the so-called Islamic State have travelled via Canada to avoid detection, the Foreign Secretary has said.

Philip Hammond (above) told MPs people are becoming "increasingly sophisticated" to avoid detection.

During Foreign Office questions in the Commons, he was asked by Labour's Kezia Dugdale what discussions he was having with international partners to stem the flow of British citizens.

Mr Hammond said: "I have seen reports recently of journeys which are routed via Canada to get to Turkey and then into Syria rather than going directly from the UK."

AN adventurer has become the first person to stand on top of Wembley Stadium's arch – and live-streamed his breathtaking view to the world.

James Kingston, 24 (left), climbed to the top of the monument before stepping out at the tallest point of the arch, 425ft above the pitch. It took a team of more than 30 safety and security experts to deliver the stunt to mark the launch of EE's new Action Cam, which lets users stream video live.

Stunts

Mr Kingston, whose other previous stunts have attracted millions of views on YouTube, said: "I've dreamt of being on top of the Wembley arch from the day I first laid eyes on it eight years ago when the new stadium opened.

"It's such an iconic landmark."

"I've stood on the top of buildings and structures all over the world."

"But I've never felt more on top of the world than on the top of the Wembley arch."

BT reveals TV soccer charge

BT has announced it is to charge most of its broadband customers £5-a-month to watch Champions League football next season in the latest round of its footie battle with broadcaster Sky.

The telecoms giant will screen 351 games from the top European club competition – and the Europa League – after paying £897m for a three-year deal.

Coverage will be fronted by the BBC's Match of the Day host Gary Lineker and new BT pundits will include Steven Gerrard.

PC 'COULDN'T CONTROL SEXUAL URGES'

Cop targeted three women, court told

By KIM PILLING
www.sundaySport.co.uk

A POLICE constable was "unable to contain his urges" as he committed a string of sexual assaults while on duty, a court heard.

Christopher Hopkins, 41, is said to have targeted his three alleged victims between 2006 and 2013 – an underage girl, a 17-year-old girl and a work colleague at Merseyside Police.

The married father also allegedly arranged over the internet to meet a man for sexual activity when he should have been on mobile police patrol.

Opening the prosecution case at Preston Crown Court, Richard Haworth told jurors: "The Crown's case, in a nutshell, is that he was unable to contain his sexual urges and all of these alleged offences were committed to satisfy his predatory sexual nature."

The first complainant was aged between 13 and 15 when Hopkins visited her home after she had been reported missing. Mr Haworth said the complainant felt "intimidated" when Hopkins asked her for a kiss.

She went to give him one on the cheek but the defendant turned and kissed her on the lips, the court heard.

Affair

The next alleged victim was a work colleague of the defendant, who Hopkins is said to have twice suggested they have a sexual affair.

The third complainant, who was 17 at the time, was given a lift home by Hopkins in his marked patrol car as she walked in a public office.

Officers probe Lord Janner abuse claim

POLICE in Scotland are investigating a historic abuse complaint against former Labour peer Lord Janner.

It relates to claims he took a boy north of the border in the 1970s and sexually assaulted him.

Det Ch Supt Lesley Boal said: "Police Scotland is absolutely committed to preventing all forms of child abuse and to keeping children safe, while bringing perpetrators of abuse to justice – regardless of the passage of time."

'Sex assault' violin teacher is cleared

A VIOLIN teacher has been cleared of raping an 18-year-old female student in the 1980s.

Malcolm Layfield, 63, of Manchester, had denied the allegation that he used his "power and influence" to commit the offence.

At Manchester Crown Court he denied he "crossed the line" during a summer music school he staged in Cornwall.

Harry to go topless in horror flick

SAUCY glamour model Harry Amelia Martin is heading to the big SCREEN when she leaves Big Brother.

It was revealed yesterday the brunette 22-year-old has been cast in a gory new horror flick called Six Hot Chicks In a Warehouse.

The movie, directed by Brit Simon Edwards, follows a group of young models who find themselves at the mercy of a depraved mass-murdering photographer.

And Harry, from Gloucester, is being widely tipped to appear NUDE in the film.

She said recently: "I work as a glamour model and actress, and I do fetish work and domination work."

"It's all being a bit of a brat and a princess, saying, 'You'll never get a girl like me', and it's not a nice thing to say to someone but people enjoy it and I get paid for it, so it is a win-win situation!"

Strictly NO dancing for Dermot

FORMER X Factor host Dermot O'Leary has trashed reports that he will be foxtrotting his way onto Strictly Come Dancing.

The presenter, 42, was thought to be joining the BBC One show this autumn following his exit from ITV rival The X Factor.

But O'Leary told Heat magazine: "I won't be going on Strictly. They have two very good hosts... and it's a brilliant show."

He added: "I still have The X Factor in my blood. I love the show, so I'd never be a competitor on Strictly.

"A lot of my friends quit The X Factor, which is one of the reasons why I left."

Strictly co-presenter Tess Daly and the show's judge Craig Revel Horwood have said they would like to see O'Leary on the dancefloor.

But O'Leary has hinted that he might pursue opportunities in the US.

Yanks reckon Sturgeon's a real joker!

SNP leader Nicola Sturgeon had American TV viewers pissing their sides – after she was mistakenly billed as being a COMEDIAN!

Scotland's First Minister went on The Daily Show – one of America's most popular satirical news shows – during her four-day trip to the United States.

And she warmed to the task just seconds after sitting down to be interviewed.

Provoking laughter from the audience, she told host Jon Stewart: "You billed me on your website as a comedian, so you've raised all these expectations that I'm going to be funny."

"And I'm a politician, and as you know, politicians are rarely very funny."

One viewer joked that she was so impressed with Ms Sturgeon that she might even try eating haggis.

Rachel Bee wrote: "Cruising a little on @NicolasSturgeon's @TheDailyShow, I'd even eat haggis for her – if someone made a #vegan version."

Brit cop gunned down in Canada

A POLICE officer recruited from Britain has been shot dead in the western Canadian province of Alberta.

Edmonton Police chief Rod Knecht confirmed the death of Constable Daniel Woodall, an eight-year veteran of the force who worked for the hate-crimes unit.

The 35-year-old had previously served with Greater Manchester Police.

A 38-year-old officer was also shot in the lower back but was protected by his bulletproof vest. He has been released from hospital.

The two officers had been delivering an arrest warrant for criminal harassment when they came under gunfire.

A fire erupted at the home soon after shots were discharged.

A suspect is believed to have been detained.

LOVE ISLAND JESSICA'S SEX TAPE ORDEAL

QUICK FEEL: Jess groped Josh's cock

Brunette babe fears vid could go public

ANXIOUS Love Island star Jessica Hayes is hiding a secret leaked SEX TAPE heartbreak, we can exclusively reveal.

The brunette has been quick to find love on the ITV dating show, shacking up with cocky muscleman Josh Ritchie.

Glamour girl Jess – aka model Amber Mae – even groped his cock, giggling: "I had a cheeky little feel. I just wanted to check for size."

Hardcore

But while 24C Amber is all smiles on the box, she's paranoid a hardcore nookie vid is about to be unleashed into cyberspace.

The 22-year-old, from Gloucester, told Midweek Sport: "I never really watch porn, but I do sometimes make my own."

"I've done it with exes before."

"And it can be really sexy... as long as it doesn't get out!"

"It's supposed to be for his eyes only, but I am nervous about one of the videos somehow getting on to the internet."

"I'd be devastated if that happened."

Pinky Amber has also told of her embarrassment after dog walkers once stumbled upon her shagging in a wood!

She admitted: "I once had sex with a guy in a forest."

"We ended up doing it between the trees. I was really worried we'd be caught and, just my luck, we were."

"This couple of dog walkers stumbled right across us and I was absolutely mortified."

Cowell gets a shocking swap offer

SIMON COWELL has been asked by Strictly Come Dancing judge Craig Revel Horwood: "I'll swap this on national TV, I'll happily swap places. I'll go on the X Factor if Simon Cowell comes on Strictly."

Talking to Amanda Holden and Gok Wan on ITV's This Morning, Revel Horwood said: "I'll say this on national TV, I'll happily swap places. I'll go on the X Factor if Simon Cowell comes on Strictly."

He also revealed he'd like to see former X Factor host Dermot O'Leary appear as a contestant on the show.

When Holden asked him about a same sex couple appearing on Strictly this year, he said: "I agree, I did say this last week, I was rather hoping, it'd be great to have a same sex couple."

"I doubt it'll happen this year, but I'd love it to happen this year."

He also spoke frankly about the first few years on the show and some adverse public reaction to him.

"I have to say, the first two years was quite frightening because people were quite abusive and didn't get my fabulous wit and humour."

Football riot 11 get death sentence

ELEVEN people have been sentenced to death by a criminal court in Egypt over a 2012 football riot that left more than 70 dead and hundreds injured.

The verdict came at the end of the retrial of 73 defendants in a case that sparked deadly riots in 2013 in Port Said, prompting then-president Mohammed Morsi to declare a state of emergency in the coastal city.

The court also sentenced 40 defendants to up to 15 years in prison and acquitted the rest. The verdicts can be appealed.

The February 2012 riot kicked off at the end of a league match in Port Said between Cairo's al-Ahly, Egypt's most successful club, and home side el-Masry.

It was Egypt's worst football disaster.

WOMAN HEAD 'A SEXUAL PREDATOR WHO HAD SEX WITH 2 BOY PUPILS'

ACCUSED:
Lakey was described as a "sexual predator"

'First romp was game of dare when she bared her boobs'

By ROSS THORNTON
news@sundaysport.co.uk

At the time Lakey was a teacher and the alleged offences represented a "gross breach of trust," the court heard.

They happened when she was married and the younger complainant would go round to her house when her husband was out.

The defendant exploited the vulnerability and immaturity of the complainant, a young boy who was naturally curious about sex," Miss Goodwin said.

She flattered him and paid attention to him. It was their secret. He became in a way submissive to her sexual demands.

"She, say the Crown, used they played a game of dare and he exposed her breasts and fondled them, the jury was told.

On another occasion he was sitting talking to her when she was in the bath. She got out, wrapped herself in a towel, then lay naked on the bed and he followed her.

He was in his school uniform when he then lost his virginity to her, Miss Goodwin said.

Terrified

After that they had sex regularly, the prosecution said, once or twice a week.

On one occasion her husband almost caught them and the teenager was terrified.

That fear eventually led him to decide to break off the relationship, Miss Goodwin said.

Their first sexual encounter happened when his mother to explain he was off sick, the jury heard.

In December 2012, when he was on the internet, he came across Lakey's picture and saw on a blog that she stated her "raison d'être was to give young people the best start in life".

He sent an email to her school, saying he could not believe she was still working with children and that she should not be allowed "anywhere near young people, especially boys".

He claimed she had sex with him when he was 13, and called her "a disgusting sexual monster".

When she was arrested in connection with the younger boy's accusations, she denied them.

Miss Goodwin said: "She said there was no truth in the allegations, that she was a professional person with an unblemished record and this was just a fantasy."

The second set of allegations centred around a boy who was 15 at the time, the court heard.

He said he regularly had sex with Lakey at her home.

Miss Goodwin said: "This behaviour continued for some time until he then saw her with someone else and realised he was no longer needed."

Relationship

When he was 17 they recommenced their sexual relationship lawfully, the court heard.

When he met his partner he told her that he had been in a relationship with a teacher when he was 15.

And Lakey contacted him in 2012 "out of the blue", the jury was told.

"The purpose of the call was to warn him off," Miss Goodwin said.

The case continues.

Drum legend
Ginger lifts lid on wild life

HARD-LIVING rock drummer Ginger Baker is to tell all about his career as part of a new series of documentaries.

The reclusive musician, best known for his ferocious drumming style alongside Eric Clapton and Jack Bruce in Cream, was tracked down to his home – a gated compound in the South African countryside – for the film.

Beware Of Mr Baker, which forms part of the BBC's new Imagine series, traces his beginnings in the London jazz scene of the 1950s.

It takes in his time with Cream, his work with renowned African musician Fela Kuti and the period he spent living rough in Tuscany.

Lewisham-born Baker, 75, also discusses his well-publicised heroin addiction.

Married four times, Baker now raises polo horses at the ranch he bought with the proceeds of a Cream reunion at the Albert Hall in 2005.

A FATHER who bludgeoned his adopted son with a scaffold pole before bungling his attempt to dump the body in the River Thames has been jailed for life.

Retired fireman Colin McSweeney attacked 24-year-old son Shaun in his garage because he feared he would take away his granddaughter.

McSweeney, 59, then entertained a female police officer who had dropped by to see his wife by making tea and telling amusing anecdotes of his time as a Scout leader, the court heard.

During the trial, he tearfully denied killing Sean at his family home in Thornton Heath, south London, on November 20 last year, claiming instead that he feared he was going to be attacked himself with a golf club.

But the jury found him guilty of murder.

Towie Lauren's beach boob!

SHE LETS BIKINI SLIP

NO bikini is big enough to contain the massive boobs on top-heavy reality babe Lauren Pope.

The stunning star of ITV's The Only Way Is Essex has been filming in Marbella, Spain, for a new beach-based set of episodes due to start airing next week.

And let's hope the former glamour model and superstar DJ repeats this stonking nipple-slip from 2013, when she failed to contain her colossal top-rack during a trip to Las Vegas.

Torquay-born Lauren, 32, hit the headlines earlier this week after tearing into Victoria Beckham for slagging off her adopted home county Essex.

Lauren bit back: "Posh was a hero of mine growing up, so I was disappointed."

"I grew up in Devon, but fell in love with Essex when I moved to Chigwell eight years ago.

"Essex people are nice and welcoming."

NICOLA HUGHES

CHLOE MAFIA

COURTNEY STODDEN

ENGLAND should now be in serious contention to host the 2022 World Cup.

Now that the whole sorry, stinking cesspit that was FIFA governance for years has been blown wide open, this surely has to happen.

No one in their right mind ever thought holding the most prestigious sporting tournament on the planet in the blistering sand dunes of Qatar was good idea.

No one, that is, other than the now-tipped Sepp Blatter, a few of his FIFA cohorts including Michel Platini – who let's not forget was also in favour of the Qatari bid – and the rulers of that tiny Middle Eastern state.

Whether or not the competition is moved to what passes for "winter" down there nearer to the Equator, games would still be being played in ridiculously hot temperatures nudging 50C – and still smack bang in the middle of the European leagues.

That would mean a serious threat to the health of football players exerting themselves in a dangerously hot environment.

Not that this is something likely to worry the ruling Qataris too much, however.

Their £30billion building programme for the World Cup has already claimed an estimated 1,200 lives of migrant workers, a figure projected to reach 4,000 by the time the first kick-off whistle is due to be blown in seven years' time.

But then life in the world's richest country can actually be incredibly cheap. Most of the workers toiling away erecting stadia in the desert earn just 57p an hour – if they get paid at all.

Millionaires

They're also not against funding the odd executioner or two, with Qatar reported to be home to some of the biggest financial backers of the so-called Islamic State.

Let's just look at all this again for a minute.

The United Kingdom has a population upwards of 64 million people. But the number of Qataris in Qatar is spectacularly lower, at just 278,000.

To put that into context, my home city of Liverpool has almost double the number of people living in it. And Liverpool, as great as it is, is by no means a big city any more if compared with London, Los Angeles, Paris or New York.

Not still, it dwarfs the entire nation of Qatar.

The rest of Qatar's two million population – the overwhelming majority – are ex-pats living high on the hog, largely in the field of gas production.

Another interesting statistic is that it is estimated that 14 per cent of people living in Qatar are dollar millionaires and it is without doubt the richest country in the world per capita.

Which is presumably why it's able to snap up pretty much what it wants from the Shard skyscraper... in London, to Harrods, to... a World Cup?

The unravelling of FIFA is a spectacle to behold. But the truth is, it's been the elephant in the boot room for years.

England – with its existing stadia AND transport infrastructure AND ideal environment AND glorious footballing history – should host the World Cup in 2022.

PRAISE should be heaped onto the shoulders of a 71-year-old man you might never have heard of, a chap called Andrew Jennings.

He is the freelance investigative journalist who has spent 20 years doggedly going after FIFA while many another reporter quaffed the free champagne and looked the other way when there was a nasty stink in the room.

Thanks to Jennings, we now accept that the idea of Qatar hosting the World Cup either in summer or winter is an absolute farce.

Let's stop thousands of poor people dying building stadia that will never be used again and call a halt to this ludicrous process.

And if Qatar are upset, well, let them sue FIFA. Because according to the FBI, that seems to be where all the money is.

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

Taken to the cleaners by the 'company policy' cretins

REMEMBER the days when you could walk into a shop, pick something off the shelves, take it to the counter, pay for it, and then just go home?

When vendors saw you as cherished customers supporting their business – not just cash cows waiting to be milked dry.

Last weekend I dropped off a three-piece suit at the dry cleaners expecting to go through the normal ritual.

But instead of asking me, "How are you doing?" or even making some comment about the weather, I was simply presented with this: "Postcode?" Puzzled by this apparent

Tourettes-like outburst, I frowned and said, "I'm sorry?"

Louder and more insistent, the lady replied: "Postcode? I need your postcode before we can clean your suit."

She didn't actually finish the sentence with, "You idiot", because by the time I could tell she was thinking it,

Taken aback, I weakly apologised for my "stupidity" and gave her the information.

But it failed to satisfy my interrogator, who then barked, "House number?" That was it.

I'd had enough of being treated like a nervous immigrant collared at the airport by an irritable border guard and the red mist came down.

I said: "Listen, luv, I want you to clean my bloody suit not come round and give me an estimate. Either we stop this nonsense immediately or I'll take my business elsewhere."

But this hag-wash warrior wasn't the least perturbed. "Company policy," I was told. Dull insistence on "company policy" is the new bane of the high street whether it's from chain stores or local firms.

I'm an adult. I drive a car, have a mortgage, and it's been a long time since a barmaid asked for my date of birth before she'd pull me a pint. A very long time.

So you'd think that buying a packet of fags from a supermarket wouldn't involve having to produce my passport as proof of age."

But you'd be wrong.

"It's the law," I was told recently by a flinty-eyed cashier as I attempted to add 20 Bensons to my shop.

"We need proof that you're over 25."

"I'm not even allowed to let you have those matches," he yelled, snatching them out of my hand with glee.

It's as if shop assistants are taught to see their customers as an adversary to be thwarted, belittled and humiliated at every turn.

They're encouraged in this battle by management, who carry out training regimes so rigid they make Commando bootcamp look like Butlin's.

Their mission is to extract as much information from the enemy – sorry, "customer" – as possible, just stopping short of water-boarding.

They're helped in this mission by the "club cards", whose true purpose is data-mining your shopping list to work out which hateful marketing company they can sell your information to next.

The customer was once king. Now we're just useful drones expected to follow some bastard billionaire's "company policy" so he and his boardroom cronies can make even more money.

My suit is still on its hanger in the wardrobe, awaiting the attention of a dry cleaner who won't demand my name, rank and serial number.

But what are the chances of finding one of those?

WORLD'S FIRST DISABLED ORGY

Sex party for 125

By COLIN HURST news@sundaysport.co.uk

THE world's first sex orgy for disabled people has been organised.

The event is described as a huge occasion for its organisers and for thousands of members of the disabled community.

The Deliciously Disabled sex night will be hosted in a theatre in the Toronto, Canada, where planners will supply everything necessary to make it an accessible night for everyone.

Entrance costs £11—but carers get in for free—and the ticket price covers everything from an interpreter for the deaf to hydraulic lifts.

The masquerade ball-themed event, which is open to both disabled and able-bodied people, has a 125-person capacity with space for 20 wheelchairs.

Andrew Morrison-Gurza, the creator of Deliciously Disabled, who has cerebral palsy, said: "When we talk about disability and sexuality in the same breath (if at all), we often discuss only the obstacles and fail to see the opportunities."

Forefront

"We don't have a language that celebrates sex and disability, and Deliciously Disabled hopes to do just that."

"We want to give people with disabilities the opportunity to be at the forefront of a sex positive party, but also introduce people who do not experience disability to all its deliciousness."

"This event is working to ensure that disability and sexuality is accessible to everyone."

Stella Palikarova, a 35-year-old disability awareness consultant with spinal muscular atrophy, added: "By making this party accessible, we are saying openly that people with disabilities are sexual beings... and not only in more conventional ways."

"This should not be shocking. It should be celebrated."

SHOWBIZ stunna Jess Impiazzi really turned up the heat recently on MTV's Ex On The Beach.

But it is her saucy SEX confessions that will leave you HOT under the collar!

The 26 year old reality star revealed she's DESPERATE for rough sex admitting, "I love it up against the wall!"

Rude

Jess 32E from Surrey, said "My favourite position is definitely from behind. I feel a bit primal, rude and naughty."

"It's great when you're on all fours and your mate just grabs you and takes control."

"I also like it standing up - and doing it somewhere where you might get caught!"

"I work as a promotions girl and often appear at motorcycle shows. One time after a race I did it on the track - up against a wall - it was great!"

awaited The Rise Of The Krays

He remained in prison until just before his death in 2000. Ronnie was jailed for life at the same time for a murder committed the previous year and remained behind bars until his death in 1995.

During their decade long career the Krays were involved in HUNDREDS of violent crimes but none can rival the terrible death of Jack The Hat McVitie.

The life and crimes of the Krays are now portrayed in ultra realistic brutal TV in new flick The Rise of the Krays available on Blu Ray and DVD from August 31st

Thailand on your doorstep!

TEXT THAI TO 69992

No need to take expensive flights and learn a new language to get chatting with a gorgeous Thai girl!. Did you know that every year thousands of them move to the UK? Unfortunately many of these lovely ladies end up stranded and lonely after just a few months, usually because of a guy who promised companionship with plenty of regular sex thrown in, but just couldn't keep up to the demands of a woman with such a raging sex drive!. English women can be hard work, but with a Thai woman you can expect dinner on the table, regular massage and waking up to a blow job every morning!

Here are some of our most popular girls hoping to get a message from someone just like you now:

Lenny: Gong filled me with 'lemonade'!

COMIC Lenny Henry says being offered a knighthood was "a lovely feeling" and "like being filled with lemonade".

The funnyman told BBC Radio 2's Chris Evans that the honour expected to be officially confirmed on Friday was "wonderful".

He explained: "It was a lovely feeling – like being filled with lemonade for 10 or 15 minutes."

Henry, 56, a regular on Comic Relief, said his knighthood was for "services to charity", adding "That's not just me, that's everybody that works for Comic Relief".

"I'm being reeled and pummelled from all sides by my family, saying 'Do we get some land? Do we get a castle? Do we get 100 men in plate armour following us around Dudley?'

"I'm very pleased and my mum would have loved it. When we were at the Royal Variety performance she was sat on the same balcony as the Queen and she kept waving, so this would have sent her into fits of joy."

Jurassic dinosaur is found – in Wales

A NEW dinosaur species has been discovered in Wales dating back 201 million years to the earliest Jurassic period.

The fossilised skeleton of the dog-sized creature – a theropod dinosaur – is described as a cousin of the giant tyrannosaurus rex and is believed to be the earliest specimen of a Jurassic era dinosaur ever to walk the Earth.

Described as the "find of a lifetime", it was discovered on Lavernock beach near Penarth in the Vale of Glamorgan by two fossil-hunting brothers, Nick and Rob Hanigan, after storms last year.

The Allosaurus features razor sharp teeth and claws.

Dr John Nudds, senior lecturer in palaeontology at The University of Manchester said: "It is very rare to find this type of dinosaur at all."

Doctor

YOUR Sonic Screwdriver will be pulsating when you clap eyes on this sexy Doctor Who babe making her steamy NUDE debut with a red-hot LESBO romp!

Gorgeous Freema Agyeman played Martha Jones, companion to 10th Doctor David Tennant, up until 2010.

She also appeared in BBC spin-off series Torchwood and even stars in CBeebies series Old Jack's Boat as dad eye-candy Shelly Pariwinkle.

But fans of the 36-year-old actress will be stunned to see her obliterating her family-friendly reputation with this sizzling girl-girl scene.

Explosive

It comes in new Netflix series Sense8, a sci-fi show created by The Matrix's Wachowski brothers.

Freema is seen locking lips, and hips, with blonde co-star Jamie Clayton as they kiss and fondle each other to an explosive climax.

It's a jaw-dropping turn of events from Freema, especially seeing as how she was once BANNED from getting her boobs out by Doctor Who exec Russell T Davies.

Speaking about her role on Torchwood, which aired at 9pm for a more mature audience, he said: "You have to respect the fact that she is still a Doctor Who character."

"There is no sex or swearing with her in Torchwood because there will be kids watching."

"It's fine for Torchwood's Gwen to be doing it. But we sat there with a script and were literally taking swear words out of Martha's lines."

Meanwhile, Sense8 has been leaving viewers baffled since its first aired on Netflix earlier this week.

One reviewer wrote: "As for the plot, I don't know and frankly I can't care."

"It's as if someone has filmed the longest, most tedious United Colors of Benetton advert possible and overlaid it with quotes from Yoko Ono's Twitter feed."

"Except it's not as good as that sounds."

KINKY model Charlotte Springer has revealed she's a secret DOMINATRIX!

The 26-year-old brunette, from Brentwood, Essex reckons she's "bossy" in the bedroom and she isn't afraid to give orders

Bedroom

Charlotte, who displays her 34E curves in an EXCLUSIVE photoshoot for Sunday Sport, said: "I'm generally a dominant person and those personality traits simply carry over into the bedroom."

"I guess you could say I'm a bit bossy."

But I just know what I like and I'm not afraid to ask for it!"

Thrones new babe's topless scene teaser

GAME of Thrones newcomer Jessica Henwick has opened the door to her first nude scene

Who's the babe joined the Sky Atlantic show as Sand Snake Nymeria last month she vowed NOT to get her boobs out

But the Brit, 22, said she could yet be persuaded to bare all just like many other women in the top fantasy drama

She said: "If they had come to me with a scene where they say nudity was necessary I might have done it."

"My character isn't the type to get naked unless it's for a very specific reason."

"I'm on a show that is famous for sex and violence, so I get it."

Speaking about the rumoured no-nudity clause in her contract she added: "It's a bridge I may or may not cross in the future."

Jessica is the first Asian actress to land a prominent role on the drama

And she said some fans are DESPERATE to see her strip adding: "When the casting announcement was made, within five minutes the first message I got on Twitter was 'Are we going to see your breasts?'

"And they tagged my dad in the message and they put the clapping hands emoji."

GAZZA'S TROUSER SNAKE SHOCK FOR DI MATTEO!

PRANKS:
Gascoigne

ENGLAND legend Paul Gascoigne revealed he pranked Lazio team-mate Roberto Di Matteo – by putting a SNAKE in his pocket!

Gazza 48 is famous for his practical jokes and claims his lark on the ex Chelsea manager while at the Italian club is "probably the best."

Speaking at the premiere of Game – a new documentary about his life, he said: "Di Matteo at Lazio, he used to wind me up."

"We were training in the morning and afterwards I went back to the villa and there was a little snake, so I stunned it a bit."

Mad

"Everyone went back to training in the afternoon and Di Matteo says, 'Paul, you getting ready?'

"I said, 'I've hurt my leg I'll come out in a minute.' So he went out training and I put the snake in his pocket!"

"When we came back in after training I said,

STUNNED.
Di Matteo

By JOSEPH SCRIMSHIRE
joseph@sundaysport.co.uk

I've left my money in my house. Do you have any money?"

"He put his hand in his pocket and... you talk about someone who's jumped! Honestly he went off."

"I've done a few mad things like that, but that was hilarious."

Gazza from Dunston Tyne and Wear played with Di Matteo for Lazio between 1992 and 1995.

Gascoigne is released on DVD and Blu Ray from June 15

MOA GAMMEL

BOO Miss Scandinavia.

Because not only do they make the world's best crime thrillers, their women are gorgeous and boast a relaxed approach to getting their BOOBS out!

The latest hurdy-gurdy murder mystery is new ITV Encore show Jordkatt which hails from Sweden and appeared for the first time on UK screens last night.

It stars hot Swedish blonde Moa Gammel, 34, as police investigator Eva Thörnblad.

Seven years after her daughter Josefine disappeared in the forest of Silverhöjd, Eva is forced to re-open that dark mystery after a young boy goes missing from the same dark woods.

Far easier to find are Moa's lovely breasts which she aired in 2006 flick Underbara arkade.

Also starring in Jordkatt is fellow Swede Lia Boysen, 49, who plays a mysterious office worker.

She also boasts a nude past, having bared all in Swede telly show Det nva landet.

Things that go dump in the night for TV's Yvette

SPOOKY beauty Yvette Fielding has lifted the lid on her terrifying sh&thouse spot, tre!

The TV ghostbuster says an evil spirit tried to put the willies up her in the bogs at a Welsh music venue.

Yvette, 46, who is back on screen with brand new series Most Haunted on Really, said: "I saw a pair of legs. They were transparent and had leather soles on and there was no body attached."

"The cameras weren't rolling at the time – as I was just going to the toilet."

"I was so frightened that I just turned around and ran out!"

Former Blue Peter co-host Yvette is also convinced that ghosts are becoming more and more VIOLENT no doubt annoyed by an endless stream of investigators.

She said: "I think paranormal activity is getting more frequent – and violent."

"We have to be careful."

That Lukes hot!

MICHELLE LUKES

GET ogling while you still can – because Sky 1 has just started screening the last ever episode of Strike Back.

So it's your last chance to close the curtains while marvelling at sexy brunette Michelle Lukes.

She plays counter-terrorism hottie Sgt. Julia Richmond in the drama, a lass who loves weapons and has a right pair of big 'uns too. The 33-year-old Brit has already aired her glorious curves in the series, while being bent over on a bed for raunchy doggy-style sex.

Britney:
(GREAT NEWS...
NOW LET'S SEE A LOT MORE OF THIS!)

I'm back!

By NEIL GOODWIN
neil@sundaysport.co.uk

POP babe Britney Spears is being tipped to conquer the UK charts this week thanks to her brand new single.

And as the red-hot blonde toasts her latest success male admirers will be hoping she recreates some of THESE saucy moments from her 15 year long career!

Mum of two Britney, 33 says she's in a happy place after finding love with boyfriend Charlie Ebersol - and it's showing in her work

She said: "Success depends on a state of mind and how you feel spiritually."

"I put God first, family second and my career third. I just try and balance those things out."

Unleashed

"When I am doing a really good job of that, success comes my way."

Her new tune Pretty Girls also features Aussie warbler Iggy Azalea and was unleashed on June 1.

Now let's hope she avoids a shaven headed meltdown - as she suffered in 2007 - and instead starts airing her boobs and MNGE again!

The Miss Suppi born singer famously aired her bad fanny while exiting a cab back in 2006 while she snogged Madonna at the 2003 MTV Video Music Awards.

Meanwhile twice-divorced Britney also came perilously close to revealing her boobs in a low-cut frock during an episode of MTV's Punk'd pranking series.

Dead farmer buried in cow shit by wife

A FARMER'S wife has been charged with murdering her husband and burying him under a pile of COW SHIT.

Charlene Mess, 48, is said to have STABBED 52-year-old Douglas with a pitchfork and RE-SHOOTING him in the back of his head.

His body was found under a 4ft deep mound of manure at the back of their 300-acre dairy farm after his son reported Douglas missing.

Charlene who stayed on the property throughout the seven-hour air and ground search was taken into custody 10 hours later.

The mum of four is being held in custody charged with second degree murder assault, tampering with evidence, gun crimes and lying to law enforcement.

Prosecutor Donald O'Geen said the motive behind Douglas' killing in Attica, New York State was a mystery.

But family friends claimed the couple had been going through a rough patch in their 30 year marriage.

Glasto

is a blast for lads on the puff!

By CHRIS BRADLEY
news@sundayssport.co.uk

GLASTONBURY is the favourite music festival for CHEATERS who want to play away, a top dating site has discovered.

B booze, sun and top tunes are the culprits causing thousands to have extramarital affairs.

Festival season is about to kick off so it may be the right time to dump unfaithful girlfriends if they have tickets for the world famous event down on Somerset's Worthy Farm.

More than 2,000 members of Ashley Madison.com, which caters for couples looking for extra marital dates, were naked what festival they loved most.

British summer staple Glastonbury hit the top spot which means it's the most popular 'hook up' for those who stray away.

Around 26 per cent said they would be going to see Kanye West, Foo Fighters and The Who rock the Pyramid Stage on June 21-29.

T in the Park and the aptly named Secret Garden Party also made the top three with 19% and 14% of votes in the survey of the dating site's UK members.

Grunge fest Download was last with just 1% while the V Festival scored 12% Isle of Wight 9% and Latitude 7%

Inhibitions

Dance festival Creamfields beat off stiff competition with 6% from Reading and Leeds who scored just 4% and 2% favoured Bestival.

AshleyMadison.com founder Noel Biderman said: "Music festivals provide the perfect atmosphere for those looking to have an affair."

The combination of sunshine, music and alcohol fuels cheaters' desires to release their inhibitions and have discrete campsite rendezvous.

AshleyMadison.com was founded in 2001 and now has more than 30 million members in 46 countries around the world.

Gorgeous redhead Anna Garry, 24, says she once bonked a strapping lad at a burger van at UK metal festival Hellfest.

She said: "I'd had a couple of beers and I always get really horny when I've had a tipple."

"But festivals are great places to have a one night stand or an affair if you really want to."

"You'll never see those people again and you can REALLY let your hair down!"

Lady Gaga pops out!

WACKY pop star Lady Gaga flashed her whoppin' BOOBS in London this week.

The Poker Face singer, 29, wore a see-thru dress and nipple tassels after a show at the Royal Albert Hall on Tuesday.

Lady Gaga, real name Stefani Germanotta, had been performing a duet that evening with jazz singer Tony Bennett, 88. An onlooker said: "Fking hell, she's a nutter. I'd still bang her though."

GAME OF GNOMES!

A SHOCKED woman came home to find 107 gnomes arranged on her front garden

Police were called in the early hours of June 2 after she found the ornaments in rows

Missing

Officers are investigating the odd incident in Ivybridge, Devon, where no less than 107 gnomes have been reported missing

A spokesman for Devon and Cornwall Police said: "Someone has taken quite a bit of time and effort to place them there."

"It has unsettled the homeowner who has no idea why there were put in her front garden."

"We are seeking to establish where they have come from."

"The question is whether they are stolen or if it's a prank and someone is playing a game of gnomes."

Massage parlour girl's sensational bum deal

Dear Bailey,

I'M a 23-year-old builder and I have been working with the same gang for three years.

Recently we had a week in Birmingham, and every night was party night at the local massage parlour.

One night I hooked up with a lovely teenage Chinese babe whose speciality was taking it up the arse.

It's always been a big turn on for me to fuck-a-tittle the ladies because, I have to confess I'm a bit on the small side in the dick department and a bum hole is nice and tight.

Needless to say I had a whale of a time with this Chinese chick. She said that to get the maximum pleasure she must first insert a strange sex toy up her fanny.

She put on a bit of a show for me, fondling her tits and slipping the toy in and out of her juicy hole.

Then she got on the bed and wowed her cuts little arse in my face.

My cock was rock hard and I couldn't wait any longer, so I plunged into her.

Scrambling

Once inside her I could feel the whirling sex toy in her c.

She must have been feeling something good too because she went off like a rocket, screaming as I spanked up her arse.

It was an amazing experience and I collapsed on the bed feeling totally elated.

I showered down and thought that would be the end of it and I would go back to my mates to share my great time with them.

But she told me not to leave just yet because she had one more surprise in store for me.

Then she worked my knob back to stiffness and gave me a fantastic blowjob, which she said was to say "thank you" for such a good arse-fking.

I was completely blown away and I couldn't get her out of my mind, so I arranged to meet her out for work for a meal.

I asked her to marry me, but she says she has to pay off debts of £10 000 first.

That's all my savings. Do you think I should do it?

GM, Glasgow

Bailey says...

NO, she's playing you for a sucker.

Dear Bailey,

I AM a barmaid and I love sex. I'm 21 with long, dark hair and most blokes can't take their eyes off me 34ds.

I am used to being chatted up and had never taken it any further until one of the regulars offered me £20 to suck his cock.

I needed the money, so I gave him a blowjob on my way home.

I must have impressed him as over the next few weeks several of his mates paid me to give them a gobble.

I was happy with the extra money and was delighted when the landlord offered me £600 to be shagged by him and six customers.

On the night of the gangbang, soon after, as orders, the landlord led me to the pool table. He stripped me and soon I was being shagged by seven blokes in turn.

But the whole thing was filmed, without my knowledge. It's sold loads round here and I can't go anywhere without being called a slag.

What should I do?

DF, Lancashire

Bailey says...

IT might be better if you left, as I think you might have gained a reputation!

Boss gave me hard time

Dear Bailey,

I'VE fancied my boss at work for ages. She's 42 and a cracking blonde with huge tits.

A couple of weeks ago me and her had to go to a meeting at head office, which meant we had to stay the night at a hotel.

We headed for the bar as the firm was paying and as she got more pissed she told me what she and her boyfriend got up to and I was soon rock hard.

We went back to my room eventually and emptied the minibar.

She told me she wanted me to fk her hard and then took off her blouse and skirt.

I soon had her knickers off and my tongue in her love-hole. After making her juices explode, I launched my knob into her.

At the moment of orgasm she promised me promotion. We've been back at work a while now and she's never referred to it.

What should I do?

EM, Gloucester

Bailey says...

I SHOULDN'T complain or she'll probably sack you. Wait until your next trip away with her before you bring it up.

Dear Bailey,

YOU should see my new shed. I had it delivered a few weeks back and since then I have plastered the inside walls with pictures of your gorgeous pal Hayley Finch.

There's something about her massive boobs and cheeky smile that gets my blood flowing - straight to the penis!

Now when I'm feeling down I'd nip to the shed and I'm instantly given a boost - that's my pen again.

What I'd really love is a signed photo to take centre stage. Any chance?

GR, North Yorks

Bailey says...

I'LL see what I can do. Meanwhile, pin this one up.

Dear Bailey,

I went to a fancy dress party recently dressed as a pump. One buxom blonde babe who came as Marilyn Monroe particularly caught my eye.

She's 45, and I'm 23. We got chatting and I couldn't take my eyes off her massive tits.

After the party we were both passed and she invited me back to her place.

She told me that she loves toyboys and stripped off. I was rock hard in an instant and she wasted little time in getting her chops on my cock.

It was brilliant watching "Marylin" take my length and it didn't long before I shot my load right down her throat.

She led me upstairs and asked me to spank her with my belt before boning her from behind.

I was soon ready to explode again and she told me to spank over her tits. She then licked my sticky scuff off her boobs.

I asked if I could take her up the arse and she said yes, so I eased my love-toes into her brown hole.

I'm saving her again next week and she's promised to dress up as Dolly Parton.

The only problem is that I think she's a bit too old for me. What do you think?

PJ, West Yorks

Bailey says...

WELL, she's certainly not too old to shag, is she?

SHOW ME THE HONEY!

WELCOME to the interactive Midweek Sport – where YOU get to choose the stunnas appearing on these pages!

That's right ladies, we publish sexy snaps of the babes you most want to see – TOPLESS or even NAKED.

Every Wednesday, Show Me The Honey features cute curves of the glamour girls you're clamouring for. This service UNIQUE to British newspapers – is totally FREE!

All you have to do is drop us an email to request@sundaysport.co.uk telling us why you want to see your favourite girl, then sit back and let us do the rest.

ANNIE BULLAH

FUN-LOVING babe Annie Bullah was always up for some raunchy interviews and she's much missed by reader Peter Hardwick, 37.

The 25-year-old from Loughton, in Essex, earned a reputation for saucy sex confessions during her career as a topless model.

And the busty, 22FF beauty even admitted to enjoying BUM LOVE, saying: "I've tried anal and I like it. If I've had a few drinks I'll definitely give it a go."

Today, she's the star of ITV reality show Minors in Designers and loves showing off her fashion on Twitter and Instagram.

Peter from Rhyl, told us: "Annie's attitude was just as sexy as her look, in my humble opinion."

MORGAN LEES

SOCIAL worker Brian Jewell, 28, would love to work up a sweat with Midweek Sport's Morgan Lees!

Morgan, 29, from Derby, retired from glamour modelling a few years ago and now works in the fitness industry.

But Brian, who lives in Birmingham, reckons she's still one of the best in the business!

He told us: "It's a real shame that Morgan isn't doing topless photo shoots anymore, but I respect her decision."

She's a gorgeous girl and I always loved her all-natural 32E boobs.

"Would you mind printing an old glamour photo, just for me?"

HOLLIE HATTON

FETISH model Hollie Hatton is the choice of bricklayer Ron Buckridge, 44, from Liverpool.

He told us: "I would like to see more of Hollie in the paper – I love busty girls with lots of tattoos!"

"She hasn't been in the Sport for years. What happened to her?"

Well, you'll be pleased to hear that the 29-year-old recently appeared on the cover of body art mag Skin Deep.

But unfortunately it looks like Hollie, from Cardiff, hasn't posed TOPLESS for a couple of years.

But our readers will always remember her bra-bustin' 32G boobs from back in the day. Here's one for you, Ron!

I MUST confess to thinking bloke when I'm having sex with my boyfriend. I don't think it's as bad as cheating, though. It's perfectly normal and lots of girls do it.

And I can guarantee that blokes think about other girls during sex too - but they just won't admit it!

I'LL BONK YOU - BUT FANTASISE ABOUT YER BEST MATE.

Daisy Donaldson says...

A FEW years ago I asked my fella honestly if he ever thought about other girls during sex and he replied, 'Yes'.

It was a bit of a shock to me, but if I'm honest I'd felt the same way too.

When I'm fantasising during sex, usually it's about having another guy or girl involved rather than replacing my partner.

We've had a couple of threesomes actually

But sometimes I get a bit jealous when he's getting frisky with another girl. So I reckon it's better to stick with the fantasy.

By JOSEPH SCRIMSHIRE
joseph@sundaysport.co.uk

HALF OF women fantasise about bonking another man while having sex with their other half, a new survey has revealed.

In a poll by sex shop chain Lovehoney, 46 per cent of women confessed that their minds often wander to other men while they are making love to their current fellas.

For most girls, the forbidden fantasy figure they dream of bedding is a close FRIEND or even their BOSS – and a third end up actually doing the deed with the object of their desire.

The survey found that more than half of women fessed up to regularly reliving steamy sex sessions with former flames while in the act with their current partners.

And a third of girls said they sometimes picture having sex again with their first love.

The research also shows that 70% of women actually fantasise about what their ideal conquest will be like between the sheets.

Sordid

But almost 40% of women said they found their dream man to be a letdown once they finally got them in the sack.

And 60% of girls said those sordid thoughts are just harmless fun and wouldn't class what they were doing as cheating.

A spokesperson for Lovehoney said "Lots of people do reminisce fondly about former lovers – it is a perfectly harmless thing to do as long as you are not intent on living out the fantasy if you are with someone else."

"A.I. Lovehoney research shows that sexual fantasies enhance couple sexual happiness and are a good thing."

"Sexual experimentation is to be encouraged, because couples who are happy in bed tend to be happy in the rest of their lives."

Jane Flowers says...

IN the past I would think about having sex with multiple guys when I was sleeping with my ex.

It's always been a fantasy of mine, having a threesome with two blokes.

I would play the scenario in my head during sex and it would feel amazing.

But I don't reckon I'd actually want to do that in real life.

I think it's just about that feeling of having all the attention on me.

My ex-boyfriend wasn't exactly great in bed, so I felt quite frustrated. I wanted more attention, so I would let my mind drift into fantasy.

But I don't feel that way with my new partner. He pays lots of compliments and knows exactly how to keep me satisfied.

SELF-confessed exhibitionist Bex White has revealed that she loves sunbathing NAKED!

The 29 year-old stunner, from east Sussex, confessed she always goes TOPLESS at the beach.

She said "I definitely get my boobs out on holiday! Why would you cover them up?"

Feeling

"Actually, I sunbathe nude wherever possible. It's an amazing feeling - the sun all over your body - and you just feel so free!"

"And it's really important for me personally to be naked when tanning because I'm a glamour model."

"I can't be showing up to Midweek Sport photoshoots covered in tanlines!"

The image is a vibrant, graphic poster. The title 'THREE R18 SEX DVDS' is written in large, bold, red letters with a yellow outline. A small blue box containing the letters 'R18' is positioned above the word 'SEX'. Below the main title, there are two promotional offers: 'WORTH £60' next to a large yellow '£60' and 'TO YOU JUST £15' next to a large yellow '£15'. At the bottom of the poster, there are three small, semi-transparent black-and-white photographs of people. To the right of the first photo is the text 'Spe... Cr... Girl', and to the right of the second photo is the text 'Aut... H...'. The overall style is playful and attention-grabbing.

OUR SPORTS BETTING GURU WILL PUT YOU ON A WINNER!

UNDER FIRE
Sepp Blatter

Lock in a 32/1 payout

OKAY It is a little seedy betting on whether some bloke, however little you might like him, loses his liberty.

But an open goal is an open goal and we think we have spotted one.

Paddy Power have offered 6/5 that more than four Fifa officials are jailed over the corruption scandal.

Nine of them have already had the tap on the shoulder and the "come along quietly, sir" and they haven't even started with Septic Sepp yet.

While accepting plod can be rapid off the blocks at times, these are not the sort of charges — international fraud — they take on lightly so, for us, four is a very conservative estimate.

Now if that's a correct guess the next obvious sight is Qatar being stripped of the 2022 World Cup. Apparently the English FA are not interested in filling the void. Folly, in our book but that's by the by.

Nobody ever understood the

TAKE TASTY TREBLE ON FIFA FALLOUT

decision to stage a summer world cup in a desert country where the temperature hits an average of 40°C at night

So if the rats are indeed kicked from the sinking ship it is inevitable the next vessel to hit the proverbial iceberg will be Qatar. Help yourself to some 6/5 with Betfair.

Which brings us to the exciting leg of the treble.

Blatter to be Fletcher's next cell mate serving porridge before January 1. It's 6/1

The wheels of justice tend to move slowly but there is a suspicion that international sport, and the Feds, will want a lid on this case PDQ. So we will take yes at sixes. Put the three together and the trio pays nearly 32/1.

They are also betting on whether the UEFA nations will boycott the 2018 tournament in Russia and you can have 10/1 against that.

It's a tempting price but now we have seen the back of Blatter we think Europe will be forgiving so we will swerve that one.

They are also betting on who will be the next Fifa President. And if there is any justice it ought to be Prince Ali Al-Hussein. Prince Ali is 5/4 but the second fave is suave Froggy Michel Platini. A superb player in his day and more to the point now a good orator. At 5/2 he appeals.

The other special football market this summer gives a big giggle. It's for the next England football manager.

Now, given Uncle Woy has all but got us qualified for the European Championships he is going nowhere fast. Short of getting hit by abus.

Bizarroly Gary Neville is 6/1 favourite. Never managed anyone I mean, please.

Non-event Gareth Southgate is 12/1 second fave which is also laughable.

Alan Pardew at 20/1 would probably be the supporters choice. But since when did the FA give the people what they wanted?

If there is to be, eventually a winning outsider, what about Eddie Howe? A great season at Bournemouth and who knows. He's 33/1. Had dastier bets.

BET: 1pt treble: Four-plus Fifa felons to be locked up; taste to Qatar; Blatter bunged up this year too (32/1).

HAVE A STOUTE BET ON SIR MICHAEL'S PAIR

THERE's a half-decent card at Haydock Park today and the key to cracking it is Sir Michael Stoute.

Stoute doesn't send horses north of Watford that easily but when he does his strike-rate is pretty amazing.

He has two at the Merseyside track today and both have outstanding claims.

In the 3.10 PLIADES can bounce back from a disappointing run at Chester last month. He was outpaced on the unconventional track and the step up to a mile on a true course should suit ideally.

He won and was placed at Beverley which, although right-handed, isn't that different to Haydock and he is now 4lb lower in the handicap for that third-placed effort. There were five in the race that day and the other four have all one out to win again. That's hellish good form.

Cricket-loving Sir Mike's other innings breaks one of the golden rules of punting — a maiden in a handicap.

But this looks pretty weak and DANNYDAY (4.10), by the class act Danhill, is up to the job.

He struck the front way too soon when third in an 11-furlong Kempton handicap two weeks ago but it was lack of a finishing kick that did for him and a step up to one-mile six-furlongs can be ideal.

There's a chance he could be a box-filter — one entered to pad out the transport costs — but he holds every opportunity.

BET: 1pt double Pliades (3.10 Haydock); Dannyday (4.10 Haydock).

DOG LEADS

BY MICK LIVESEY

I'm so jolly for Redeye

THE pick of the Midweek action comes from Hove on Thursday and even in the midst of the Derby it's a cracking card.

I've studied the form and come up with four of my best bets on the night and we stand every chance of landing the Yankee.

Jolly Redeye is fast becoming a greyhound of some calibre, every time I see him he impresses me and I fully expect him to land his hat-trick tonight.

He's on the end of a smashing draw being the sole rail seed and with his pace he should not see another rival.

Underground Ace was eliminated from the Derby on his debut run.

He was thrown straight in to the deep and but here in a Maiden contest over 515m he looks very interesting.

It was a hugely promising trial clocking 29.77 calculated. If he clocked sub 29.80 here you would be very surprised if he was beaten.

Ballybet Brewery arrives at Hove on the back of being beaten at Henlow over four-bends after leading a long way.

He was unlucky in truth and but for a bump it could have been different but dropping back to a sprint contest he should take the beating.

His sprint trial at Wimbledon is eye catching and anything close to that level of form would be more than good enough to win this Maiden sprint.

My Real Mutley was unlucky in the heats of the Coral June 475m competition and finds himself in trap-one for the final.

It's going to be a race to the corner and I'd want to be on the rails especially if he can break just about level.

It's going to be a hot race but he is worth another chance.

1pt double

NAP: 21.40 T1 Jolly Redeye

NE: 19.46 T2 Underground Ace

TREBLE: 19.31 T3 Ballybet Brewery

YANKEE: 21.06 T1 My Real Mutley

3/1 YOLO STILL DOING THE BUSINESS

Whilst other pundits selected four, five or even six Derby selections I bucked that trend and put just one greyhound up: Newlyn Yolo at 33/1.

Two rounds down (four to go) and he's ran out an impressive winner in both tests to date, it will get tougher but I love this dog and still believe he'll get the job done.

SIM GOES FOR GOLD!

Mullins stayer sets up third Royal run

RACING: ROYAL ASCOT COUNTDOWN

ACE trainer Willie Mullins says it's all systems go for Simenon's third Ascot Gold Cup bid.

The Irish champion jumps trainer is also a dab hand with his flat runners.

And he's already had plenty of success with Simenon, who went down by a neck in the big race two years ago and was fifth in it last season.

The seven-year-old had his first run on the level for almost a year when fifth in the Henry II Stakes at Sandown Park.

He was badly in need of the run after that long absence and was right in the running for much of the contest.

Mullins declared himself very pleased with the run that should see his stayer reach next week's Royal Ascot in top condition.

He said: "I'm very happy with him and we're just concentrating on getting him ready for the Gold Cup now."

"Dry ground would be suitable for him."

Fancy

Mullins has his eye on other prizes at the big meeting and there are high hopes about his Wicklow Brave.

He has already won at one of racing's major meetings, when taking the County Hurdle at the Cheltenham Festival.

The surroundings of Royal Ascot are very different but he is a big fancy for the marathon Queen Alexandra Stakes.

That's the longest race in the flat calendar and is one that often goes to a jumps handler.

Mullins has a cracking record in the race.

Simenon himself won the race three years ago and the master of Closutton also took it last season with Pique Sous.

Hopes are high that Wicklow Brave will add to that roll of honour.

Mullins said: "Wicklow Brave is in good form and he will probably run there on the Saturday. Clondaw Warrior will probably go for the two-and-a-half mile handicap on the first day Ascot Stakes."

With less than a week to go before the meeting, most trainers are making plans for their runs.

One of the most exciting is Hong Kong wonderhorse Able Friend who has done his first work since arriving in the UK.

He is being lined up for a tilt at the Queen Anne Stakes on day one of the meeting.

He's already tasted plenty of Group 1 success and is one of major draws of the meeting.

Trainer John Moore said: "The horse arrived on Saturday and worked on the Polytrack next to Newmarket racetrack."

He worked around nine furlongs and will go a little further.

"I've known Michael Bell for a couple of years, we looked at a few yards when we decided to come over and decided to bring him here."

He worked around nine furlongs and will go a little further.

"Everything is going good, there are no problems and we're looking forward to next week."

GOLD!

EXPENSIVE. Fages

Fages to be first £1m man

RUGBY LEAGUE

Salford wantaway scrum-half Theo Fages could be the first £1m transfer in the game.

That's the view of the City Reds chairman Marwan Koukash, who says it will take a world record bid to prize him away from the club.

The 20-year-old French ace has asked for a transfer and will not sign a new deal.

But Koukash is adamant that it could take as much as a million quid to make the move happen.

Any bid would certainly have to smash the current record of £700,000 paid by New Zealand Warriors to Wigan for Sam Tomkins in 2013.

Fages is contracted to the club until the end of next season but his head has got too big for little old Salford and he wants to play for one of the so-called big boys.

Koukash said: "Theo has handed in a transfer request."

"But if anybody wants to buy him it would have to be for a world-record transfer."

Giants

"He is the hottest property in Super League."

"He has 18 months left to run on his contract and we will ask him to see it out."

He is thought to fancy a move back home to Catalans Dragons but it's hard to see any club but one of the Aussie giants coming up with anything like £700,000.

After all, he might be a good player with plenty of improvement in him but he's a way off being the best on the planet.

Koukash reckons he is in with a fighting chance of getting his ace to change his mind.

He's prepared to smash the club's wage structure to keep Fages.

He added: "We spoke a few months ago when he asked for a certain figure and we actually offered him more than that."

"We offered him two more years and enhanced terms for this year and next year."

"We thought he had accepted it but maybe he hadn't consulted his agent, who is the same agent who acted for Sean Long and Gareth Hock."

"He has made it clear he doesn't want to discuss a new offer and only wants a move from the club."

"I still hope he will reconsider his position and stick with the club I'm sure he still loves."

WILLIAMS CHASING DOWN REDS

WILLIAMS reckon the Mercedes boys are in a league of their own — but they are chasing down Ferrari fast.

Head of performance Rob Smedley has been making big noises about hauling his team into second spot ahead of the Italian giants.

He was happy with the way his drivers performed in Canada at the weekend where one of the sport's oldest teams hit the podium for the first time this season.

He said: "I said to the team that we have got to think like a top team and go out and get on the podium. We knew we had good pace but weren't sure about the strategy, but we went into it believing we could get a podium and good points with Felipe.

FORMULA ONE

"We're constantly upgrading. We'll hopefully have a bit more in Austria, which will hopefully even get us in front of Ferrari."

"As a team, we have to believe that we can be in front. We can come out of the next two races bagging more points than Ferrari."

Williams driver Valtteri Bottas finished third and while he was never bothering the usual front two of Lewis Hamilton and Nico Rosberg, it was a massive boost to the team who had been struggling.

Now they are looking to build on that third and make a high finish a regular occurrence, especially when the season moves into the European summer.

There was also a decent run by Felipe Massa who was sixth in the other Williams.

The Brazilian's drive was all the more impressive as he started from 15th on the grid after engine problems.

Now the circus moves to Austria and Williams will be hoping to beat last season's tally of nine podium finishes.

They are one ahead of schedule as they took their first top three last season at the Red Bull Ring.

Bottas is confident of more success. He said: "I think the next couple of tracks, at least, will be good for us."

Austria and Silverstone will suit our car and I'm quite confident also with the package we have coming to Austria.

"If it works like all the updates so far we've had, we could be fighting for many more positions. I really hope it's possible."

Bas can score for Bazz!

AT Haydock BASMA (2.40) made an eye-catching debut over C&D when finishing strongly into fifth and this well bred filly can get off the mark at the second attempt.

At the time of writing trainer Barry Hills has won with his last two runners and local boy Paul Hanagan takes over in the saddle.

Bartholomew Fair didn't get home in Linfield's Derby Trial and is one to note for a market move. Jockey Adam Kirby is forging a terrific partnership with Luca Cumani and is riding out of his skin. Bartholomew Fair could be very well handicapped but I'm not convinced he would have won at Lingfield and he has a poor draw.

Purple Rock (3.10) had fancy entries earlier in the season and drops back in trip to a m.j. having disappointed at Salisbury over 1m2f over five weeks ago.

The selection ran well behind subsequent winner Mutaraku over a mile at Sandown and the Charlie Hills' string were not exactly firing at the time.

Birdman has never won over mile on turf but remains in cracking form and must go close to his fourth win of the season in the handicap for older horses.

Preference, however, is for Express Himself (3.40) with Ryan Moore in the plate for the first time. The selection can be slowly away and might need luck in running, but he is certainly in the right hands.

Dannynay was backed as if defeat was out of the question on his handicap debut at Kempton but I'm not convinced he will improve for this afternoon's step up in trip. Singular Quest (4.10) made a bold bid to make all at Sandown last month and roared away the vote goes to Webb Sampson (18/1 at BetVictor).

for the Cumani/Kirby team in the 12f maiden. The betting will provide valuable clues as to the colt's ability but those with racecourse experience don't look anything out of the ordinary and the selection is a half-brother to King Of Wands who loved fast ground and was a decent stayer in his time for John Gosden.

Our 20/1 selection Justin Rose blew a three shot lead to lose a Play-off at the Memorial last weekend. Dustin Johnson is a worthy favourite this week in the St Jude Classic, having won the event in 2012, but at 6/1 he looks far too short and with the US Open just over a week away the vote goes to Webb Sampson (18/1 at BetVictor).

The each way selection finished tied for third in this event 12 months ago and finished runner up in his last start at Quail Hollow.

England are 12/1 for Euro 2016 after their turgid 0-0 draw in Dublin last weekend but remain a shade of odds at 17/2 to pick up all three points in Ljubljana on Sunday against a Slovenian side who are battling it out with Switzerland for the second place in France next summer. The hosts have won both their home games against San Marino 6-0 and the Swiss by the only goal of the game courtesy of a hotly disputed penalty with 10 minutes to go.

The Three Lions won the reverse fixture 3-1 back in November but had to come from a goal behind in the second half. Slovenia were beaten 1-0 in Doha by Qatar at the end of March and struggle to score goals. Two or fewer goals is the recommendation at 4/6 al though I expect Hodgson's side to pick up a 1-0 win which is 11/2 at BetVictor.

TOOMEY'S BACK FROM THE DEAD

By TREVOR CLEMENTS

THE world's bravest jockey is returning to the track two years after he 'died'.

Brian Toomey, 26, was pronounced clinically dead for six seconds after a terrible fall at Porth in 2013.

He suffered desperate head injuries.

Within four days of being taken to hospital that July he was placed into an induced coma so the medics could relieve the pressure of swelling on his brain.

The surgeons put his chances of survival at just three per cent.

It was a fortnight before they coaxed him out of that coma and miraculously he was able to move his arms and legs.

Recovery was slow and it was only in November, after 157 nights in hospital, that he was allowed home.

Now Toomey is back in the plate. His licence was re-sanctioned by the British Horseracing Authority on Monday.

He cannot wait to be back in action.

He told me: "The main thing that has kept me going was a desire to be a jockey again."

"I know there will be people who will say I'm mad to want to come back but it's been my dream since I was a boy to be a jockey."

"It's a job and life I love, and I was absolutely determined that, if I couldn't make it back, it wouldn't be through a lack of effort on my part."

Toomey is hardly the most prolific visitor to the winners' enclosure.

He has just 49 successes since 2008.

He now returns to riding out — sitting on and managing a horse — before being passed fit to ride competitively again by two neurosurgeons.

"Just in surviving and overcoming all that I have been through I feel I have won the biggest and most important race of my life, and anything else is a bonus," Toomey added.

"I'm going to take my time and work on my fitness before taking my first ride. That's the next target to aim for and I'll give it my all to get there."

Donald wins US place

GOLF

ONE of big-time golf's forgotten men — Luke Donald — has qualified for the US Open.

The former world number one came through in Florida and will line up later this month.

He has dropped like a stone to number 66 in the rankings so had to pre-qualify for the Major which tees off at Chambers Bay, Washington on June 18.

The 37-year-old will take a confidence boost from winning the mini-tournament to make it through to the big time.

He wasn't the only famous face trying to get through — he'll be joined in Washington by a pair of dual champions in Retief Goosen and Lee Janzen. David Duval and Trevor Immelman were among star names not to get through.

By MIKE MURRAY

JOHN CARVER IS ON HIS WAY OUT OF NEWCASTLE — AS NEW MANAGER STEVE McCLENAN COMES IN.

IT WAS WIDELY THOUGHT THAT THE SELF-STYLED BEST COACH IN THE PREMIER LEAGUE WOULD KEEP SOME SORT OF JOB AT ST JAMES'S PARK.

BUT IT SEEMS THAT McCLENAN WANTS HIS OWN BACKROOM STAFF AND CARVER, ALONG WITH COACH STEVE STONE, ARE ON THEIR WAY OUT.

MCCLENAN IS EXPECTED TO TAKE THE HOTSEAT TODAY OR TOMORROW — AND HE'S ALREADY HAD SOME ADVICE ON WHO HIS FIRST SIGNING SHOULD BE.

ALAN SHEARER HAS URGED THE FORMER ENGLAND MANAGER TO SWOOP FOR CHARLIE AUSTIN.

ONE OF THE CLUB'S BIGGEST PROBLEMS LAST SEASON WAS SCORING GOALS — AND THAT'S WHY SHEARER WANTS THE MAGPIES TO POUNCE ON AUSTIN.

THE TOON LEGEND SWAPPED MESSAGES WITH THE QPR FORWARD, URGING HIM TO COME UP TO NEWCASTLE "AND TRY TO BEAT MY RECORD" OF 260 PREMIER LEAGUE GOALS.

Famous

AUSTIN HAS MADE NO SECRET OF HIS DESIRE TO STAY IN THE PREMIER LEAGUE AFTER THE HOOPS RELEGATION.

HE HAS JUST MADE IT INTO THE ENGLAND SQUAD AND THE DRAW OF THE FAMOUS TOON NUMBER NINE COULD BE TOO BIG TO IGNORE.

RANGERS ARE THOUGHT TO BE HOLDING OUT FOR A FEE IN THE REGION OF £15m FOR THE TOP-SCORING ENGLISHMAN IN THE TOP FLIGHT LAST SEASON.

THAT SEEKS LIKE PEANUTS IN THE MODERN-DAY MARKET FOR A 25-YEAR-OLD WHO HAS PROVEN HE CAN SCORE.

AND IT WOULD BE A HUGE BOOST TO THE TOON ARMY WHO AREN'T EXACTLY JUMPING FOR JOY AT THE THOUGHT OF McCLENAN COMING IN.

THESE ARE SOME BIG DECISIONS TO BE MADE OFF THE FIELD AT NEWCASTLE.

MCCLENAN IS SAID TO BE KEEN TO BRING IN NEWCASTLE-BORN SPORTS PSYCHOLOGIST STEVE BLACK.

ONE MAN WHO WON'T BE INVOLVED IS FANS' FAVOURITE JONAS GUTIERREZ.

HIS CONTRACT HAS EXPIRED BUT THERE WAS TALK THAT McCLENAN WOULD LIKE TO KEEP HIM AT THE CLUB.

BUT THE ARGENTINIAN HAS POURED BUCKETS OF COLD WATER ON THAT IDEA.

HE SAID: "I LOOK I HAVE HAD SEVEN GREAT YEARS AT NEWCASTLE BUT IT'S TIME TO MOVE ON FOR ME AND THE CLUB."

HODGSON KEEPS FAITH WITH MISFIRING WINGER

HE MADE ABOUT AS MUCH IMPACT AS A SLAP ON THE ARSE WITH A WET SLICE OF TOAST ON SUNDAY.

But despite Raheem Sterling's inept display for England against the Republic of Ireland, national manager Roy Hodgson holds faith.

Wee Raheem has rejected the offer of £100,000 a week deal to stay at Anfield and if the pedestrian James Milner is worth £150,000 a week you can start to see his point.

But despite his troubles, and despite being a Reds fan for the fat end of 50 years I can never remember the fans boozing one of our own before a game — they did with Sterling.

But Hodgson has given one of his preferred strikers a vote of confidence.

"He is going through a bad patch publicly but I have no reservations about playing him," Hodgson said.

He has done some fantastic things for us.

Against Ireland he maybe did not hit those heights but it will take a lot before I and the English national team lose faith in him."

Sterling was boozed by some fans throughout the game in Dublin and was substituted after 65 minutes.

"I don't think you can expect people to just shrug off the sort of criticism he has been receiving," added Hodgson who has turned his attention to the qualifier with Slovenia at the weekend.

System

"I think he has done ever so well because he tries very hard to shrug it off and let his football do the talking.

"He probably needed this game to realise that if he is actually going to get it fully out of his system he is going to have to work even harder still, and he is going to have to get an even thicker skin than maybe he has got at the moment.

"But the reason I took him off was not because I was particularly dissatisfied with his performance, it was to give other people a game."

England did their best to prove insomnia can be cured against Ireland and at half time some of us switched to UK Gold and a re-run of Only Fools and Horses.

It was a good un'mind the one where Del Boy takes the lads to Southend and manages to blow the coach up.

But if ever a coach needed a bowing up Well I won't say it, I'm in enough bother as it is. But surely if England is to be a footy world force again, it has to return to the principles that made us great in the first place.

A they-shall-not-pass mentality in defence, we have a few of them, a flying wide man which traditionally, splits defences.

A big lad to nod them in. A skilful lad to make stuff happen. Isn't that hard, is it?

Let's hope the England manager is a Midweek Sport reader — surely a widely read man like Roy will have us on a regular order with his newsgang!

ITALIANS RULE OUT VAN HIRE

Lazio would love to sign Robin Van Persie from Manchester United — but say they can't afford his massive wages.

The Dutchman was seen in Rome this week, fueling talk that he would be making a move to the city, home of Lazio.

The 31-year-old has been told he can leave United after an injury-plagued season where he fell out of favour with Louis Van Gaal.

He has one year left on his deal at Old Trafford with the Reds keen to move him on, mainly to get him off the wage bill.

Lazio sporting director — the man who buys and sells the club's players — says it's with a heavy heart that he rules out a move.

By ANDY MILLION

He said: "On Van Persie, all I can say is that I respect him as a striker but unfortunately, he is outside our parameters."

"There has never been a meeting, this is gossip, not transfer news."

"We don't want to create illusions, this is not true."

Lazio are looking to add more quality to their squad after finishing an excellent third in Serie A, winning them a place in next season's Champions League.

They saw Van Persie as the ideal man despite his falling returns in a United shirt.

After moving north from Arsenal in 2012, he banged in an impressive 26 goals in 38 games as Alex Ferguson signed off with another title win.

But it has gone sharply downhill since then.

Under David Moyes, RVP notched 12 times and only made it to 10 last season.

He told reporters while away with Holland that he's looking for a new challenge — in other words, one more massive payday transfer before he hangs up his boots.

With Lazio out of the running, attention is now turning to Juventus who would like to add another forward to their squad.

Carles Tevez looks to be on his way to Paris St Germain and that would leave a big hold up front for the beaten Champions League finalists.

Although no Italian side pays megawages, Juve could offer around £10m to United and more or less match what Van Persie is currently picking up.

That would be enough to tempt him to the Italian champions with few other clubs interested.

Fletch: We're scared of Dick

SUNDERLAND striker Steven Fletcher admits that pensioner Dick Advocaat still scares the shit out of him.

The 67-year-old Dutch master thrilled the Black Cats by changing his mind and signing for another season as manager.

But Fletcher admits that the players are worried about stepping out of line when the old boy is around.

That will be music to the ears of Sunderland fans who know their players are not being treated like babies at most clubs.

And it might go a long way to explain why their form improved so sharply once Advocaat came in last season, keeping them in the Premier League.

Softer

"You don't want to step out of line because he'll be the first one to tell you to get back in line."

"He cares if you make mistakes, but he tells you if you're going to make them, make them on the training pitch."

But there seems to be a softer side to the boss too, as Fletcher says: "He's a caring manager as well."

"If you have someone like that filling you with confidence, that's great."

The Scottish striker had become something of a laughing stock having not scored from November.

But that changed under Advocaat and he managed to hit the target in the final match of the season.

Fletcher said: "He likes to get forward a lot and that suits us with the players we've got."

"With the injuries I'd had, I was low on confidence, in and out of the team, not really playing."

"Then he came in and started playing me – and I got another injury, which didn't exactly help."

"But the last few games of the season he was telling me just to keep going and I'd get my chance."

HAMMER
TIME: Bilic has high hopes for his new job at Upton Park

Hammers legend replaces Big Sam

By MIKE MURRAY

SLAVEN BILIC says it's great to be home as he takes over as West Ham manager.

The Croatian was a cult hero with the Upton Park fans during his time as a player with the club.

Now the 46-year-old has been charged with steering the Hammers through one of the biggest seasons in their history.

He has Europa League football to contend with alongside the must of preserving the club's Premier League status ahead of their move to the Olympic Stadium next summer.

The former Croatia manager has been handed a three-year deal to follow Sam Allardyce (below) whose contract ended last month.

He spent 18 months in the claret and blue in 1996 before heading north to Everton.

And he says it's a great feeling to be back in east London.

He added: "I am really glad to be back with West Ham United."

"It is in the Premier League, which is among the best in the world."

"It's a big challenge and you are competing with the best and what better club to do it with than West Ham."

And Bilic is no stranger to managing a team where there are high expectations from the fans.

He has been in charge of Besiktas and there are few more passionate crowds than those who follow the Turks.

He added: "I remember West Ham as a special club."

"I love these kinds of special clubs. My last club, Besiktas, was that kind of club."

"It's not about the size and West Ham is big club. There is something special about them — they are a cult club like Besiktas."

"It is a great place to play and I felt like I was at home. It is a big privilege and a big responsibility to now be manager and I hope that I will prove it to the board, players and fans."

He revealed that the prospect of European football and the huge potential of the club's move into the Olympic Stadium were huge draws for him.

While Upton Park is one of the more old-fashioned grounds in the league, the move will see West Ham play in an iconic arena with 54,000 seats.

Filling those will be a big challenge and can only be done in the Premier League.

Bilic added: "My first priority when choosing a club is to look at its ambitions."

"When I spoke to the chairman and Karren Brady, they made clear that it is not only the fantastic new stadium we are moving into, but they showed their determination and ambition to make what is a big club even bigger."

"I saw their determination and passion that they want to do that. That was the number one reason. I could feel that they really wanted me so it was an easy choice."

The Hammers had a decent season in finishing 12th under Allardyce but there was a major slump after Christmas as the side tumbled down the table.

There was always the moot point of the more direct style of football played by Big Sam too.

That should change given that Bilic knows exactly what the home fans expect from their players.

And he added: "I would say to the West Ham fans that I will give my best and together we will achieve great things."

Pay a fiver to watch Lineker

BT SPORT have unveiled Gary Lineker as the face of their Champions League coverage for next season — but you'll have to pay an extra fiver to watch him.

Broadband customers have always had the BT sport channels for nothing as part of their subs — but now even they will have to fork out to watch the European footy.

A new channel will be the only place to see all 351 matches in the Champions League and Europa League next season.

The telephone lads have forked out an amazing £897million for the rights over the next three seasons. It means you won't be able to watch European games on Sky or ITV next season.

As part of the deal, BT has said it will show at least one match involving each British team for free every season — probably their game against Spartak Vladikavkaz or another glamour tie!

SAFE STANDING AT CELTIC

FANS will be able to stand again at Celtic Park.

The Scottish champions have won permission from the authorities to install a rail seating system as seen at many German and Austrian grounds.

The first area will hold 2,600 fans and should be in place in time for the 2016-17 season.

Chief executive Peter Lawwell said: "Celtic has worked tirelessly on this issue and we are delighted that this permission has finally been granted."

The introduction of rail seating at Celtic Park represents an investment in spectator safety.

Across football globally, the reality is that some supporters are choosing to stand at matches.

This is something we must accept and manage and also understand the positive effect which these areas have on atmosphere at matches.

Celtic's primary objective will always be the safety and comfort of its supporters — this new system will now allow fans to stand safely at matches.

"Rail seating has been in place in European football for some time and there has been considerable demand for some form of 'safe standing' within the UK and particularly from our supporters."

"We are sure the rail seating section will prove very popular with supporters and we look forward to its introduction."

"We would like to thank officials at Glasgow City Council for their support in delivering this measure and for the backing they have given to Celtic's focus on safety at matches."

PETER: I WANT TO CECH OUT

CHELSEA have made it clear they want to retain the services of crash-helmet goalie Petr Čech.

But they face stiff opposition from neighbours Arsenal. Especially as Čech has said he wants to remain in the capital.

Cech, 33, said: "I will decide based on what for me and my family was the best and it does not matter whether it is England, Germany, France and Spain."

"Next week we will have a meeting with Chelsea when the situation is clearer and all the cards are on the table."

"If I move, it brings difficulties. I must change everything, looking for housing, a school for children and so on."

Arsenal midfielder

Tomas Rosicky has dropped a major hint that the club are on the brink of making a move for the Chelsea goalkeeper Čech.

Gunner boss Arsene Wenger is keen on signing the Czech Republic International, who is set to leave Stamford Bridge with talks on his future scheduled for next week.

Blues boss Jose Mourinho would prefer to sell Čech abroad but the club will not stand in the 33-year-old's way should he opt to join Arsenal.

That raises the prospect that Arsenal could pull off an unlikely deal — with Čech valued at £3.0 million by Chelsea, quite a lot for a keeper his age — and Rosicky, who is close friends with his countryman, did little to dampen speculation that a transfer could go through.

"It could even turn against me. Both sides know what they are doing. Arsenal are a top team in the world. Players want to be transferred there, that is nothing new. It is a fantastic club."

Cech will be in the bangers for his country's Euro 2016 qualifier against Iceland on Friday.

He said: "First I have to agree with the club what the conditions would be for leaving. Next week we will have a meeting with Chelsea."

"At the moment it is with my agent. When it is clearer and all the cards are on the table, we will decide."

Rodgers shops in bargain basement

By JOHN ANTHONY

IT'S going to be a tough summer for Liverpool fans.

They are in for a couple of months watching teams like Manchester United and Chelsea shopping in Harrods — while their boss Brendan Rodgers has been sent to Lidl!

The club's American owners are said to be fuming about the way the Northern Irishman pissed away their transfer beano from the £75m sale of Luis Suarez.

The roll of shame is clear for all to see — Dejan Lovren and Lazar Markovic for £20m each, £25m for Adam Lallana, £16m for Mario Balotelli and £12m for Alberto Moreno.

That little lot contributed next to nothing to the Reds last season — and were a snip at just over £100m.

Money hasn't been spent so badly since Fifa last had the chequebook out.

So there's no way Fenway Sports Group — who control the Anfield pursestrings — are going to trust Rodgers and his fabled transfer committee with anything like that amount again.

Club insiders say they are more bothered about funding the massive building work going on at Anfield. They have handed Rodgers just £20m for new signings, plus any money he can recoup on sales.

That's why Liverpool's marquee signings so far are a couple of bargain basement boys.

James Milner will be costing them a few bob in wages but Steven Gerrard leaving has freed up something around £250,000 a week on that front.

So the 29-year-old's free transfer from Manchester City — a move that breaks all Liverpool's so-called ideals of buying them young — has had little effect on the bank balance.

Second new boy Danny

Ings almost wriggled off the hook too thanks to the club's penny pinching.

Spurs came in with a much bigger offer than Liverpool's initial £4m for the striker and only his desire to join the Reds won through.

Even then, the Kop is wincing at being forced to fork out a likely £8m for Ings.

To be scrabbling down the back of a sofa to buy a player from Burnley is a sign of the times at Anfield.

And it looks like there will have to be players leaving if any more decent signings are coming the other way.

Despite everything Rodgers said about keeping him, it's hard to see Raheem Ster-

WHEN IT COMES TO KOP'S TRANSFER KITTY

Alexis: I've got more to come

ALEXIS Sanchez says he made a "breakthrough" at Arsenal last season — and he's going to get better.

The Chile striker was a massive hit in his first Premier League season after moving for £30m from Barcelona.

He scored 25 goals for the Gunners and was the overwhelming choice for the club's player of the season.

As well as his goals, he became a creator too and that's something Sanchez says he's added to his game since moving to the Emirates.

He added: "I had a breakthrough in my football life."

"Now I switch to the left, I make goals, I pass, I am evolving."

"And if I am put in at centre forward, I will do it in the best way possible and I am fit to play."

Now Sanchez wants his team-mates to raise their game and have a proper tilt at winning the title.

The Premier League pennant last flew above the Emirates in 2004 and that's too long for a club of Arsenal's stature.

And the 26-year-old thinks the Gunners have enough firepower to win it next season.

He thinks there is room for improvement on the last campaign which brought the FA Cup but disappointment in Europe.

Skillful

He added: "It was an okay season, but it was bittersweet."

"I would have liked to have been in the Champions League final, to have won the Premier League title."

"I believe we have a bunch of skillful players so to not achieve more is disappointing."

One area of Arsenal's play that improved as the season went on was the form of Mesut Ozil.

And the playmaker has put his improvement in form down to playing with a like mind in Santi Cazorla.

The Spaniard made a big impression with seven goals and 13 assists.

And Ozil thinks he will get better with time, saying: "I think we'll have lots of enjoyment with him over the years because he's a creative player and it's a lot of fun for me to play alongside him."

"It makes it easier for me too because he sees things that some other players may not."

"That's why we're pleased to have him here."

ling lining up in a red shirt come August time.

If Liverpool want to fork out £32m for Christian Benteke from Aston Villa, the winger will have to go.

He wants to go to Man United but surely that will be a bridge too far for the Kop faithful. So it looks like either Man City or Arsenal will be his destination.

Service

Without Sterling's pace on the wing, many Liverpool fans will wonder what the point of buying Benteke is as he clearly thrived on such service when coming back to form at Villa Park.

Benteke aside, it looks like any other new faces will come to Anfield for single-figure prices.

They can't even stump up the £13m Southampton want for Nat Clyne who looks the ideal successor to Glen Johnson in the always problem right-back position.

Poor Emre Can was forced to play there for much of last year and he did well for most of it. But he's a midfield general in the making and he needs to move into the space likely to be vacated by Lucas's departure.

So what are Liverpool doing? Upping their bid for the hottest full-back in the division? No, they are looking to relegated Burnley again.

With all due respect to Kieran Trippier, he's not the kind of signing to have them dancing in Stanley Park.

But he could be picked up for around £3.5m as he'll just have to do.

And in another blow, a move for Villarreal striker Luciano Vietto looks to be going nowhere.

Again, he's hardly a household name but he was another player who wouldn't break the bank.

The 21-year-old has chosen to sign for Atletico Madrid instead where he can play Champions League football.

That might be something the Reds have to get used to now they are playing in the second division in terms of finances and prestige.

SLOVENIA v ENGLAND - FOUR DAYS TO GO

Roy wants more from his skipper

ENGLAND boss Roy Hodgson has called on Wayne Rooney to set the right example against Slovenia on Sunday.

The skipper was one of the worst culprits as the Three Lions put in a lacklustre display against Ireland at the weekend.

And, while Hodgson hasn't torn a strip off Rooney, he's looking to him to drive the side on for their Euro 2016 clash.

He's scored in the past four qualifiers and the boss wants more of the same despite having had a busy season with Manchester United.

Hodgson is always diplomatic but there's no doubt he was thinking about Rooney when said: "We know what our players are capable of and sometimes even the important ones don't live up to expectations and don't have a good game."

"It applies to any team in the world - if your good players are not really performing like the players everyone knows they are, you are in a bit of trouble.

wretched game in the Champions League final, he couldn't do anything with the ball, he was falling over every time he got it, that could have really hurt Barcelona.

"There will be players who are criticised for their performances and they will have to accept that and hopefully use it as a spur to make sure it doesn't happen against Slovenia.

Hodgson played a strong side against Ireland so there aren't expected to be a lot of changes.

Jamie Vardy made his England debut but it would be a surprise if the Leicester man or fellow new boy Charlie Austin was involved.

Clear

Victory over Slovenia will all but guarantee England's place in next summer's finals.

They would be at least six points clear of the third placed country with four games to go.

That would mean the Three Lions would only have to beat San Marino in September to seal their qualification.

With those odds, even Roy Hodgson sounded bullish, well almost.

He said: "This might sound boastful but we believe we are going to get to the finals in 2016 and there will be some tough games there."
